

Training Voucher Account

Save up to 20% on all Rockwell Automation training products and services with a Training Voucher Account!

Savings by Design

The Training Voucher Account is designed to maximise your training investments and offer financial savings for future training purchases. A Training Voucher Account allows you to pre-purchase training at a savings and then select the right training product or service to meet your employees' needs at the appropriate time.

Designed for flexibility, this savings program is the most cost-effective approach to manage a training program and purchase Rockwell Automation training products and services.

Great Savings and Convenience

The more vouchers you purchase the greater discount you will receive on all scheduled, Instructor-led training. Purchasing as little as 20 vouchers will offer you savings on future training purchases. When you purchase any quantity of vouchers, you also eliminate the administrative burden of issuing purchase orders for every training purchase.

Training Voucher Terms and Conditions

Effective Training Voucher Account Dates

Vouchers are valid for 12 months from the date of invoice. Customers need to redeem their vouchers prior to the expiration date: otherwise the voucher balance is forfeited to Rockwell Automation.

Conditions

Promotionally Priced Products

If redeeming vouchers for products that are specially priced for events or promotions, the original product list price will be used to determine the voucher redemption quantity. The discount is built into the voucher already.

Premium Courses

If the training requires additional training equipment, student kits, etc., or it is designated as a premium course, then additional vouchers may be needed. The local Rockwell Automation training coordinator can address any questions concerning vouchers required for standard instructor-led courses.

Custom/Negotiated Training

Custom/negotiated training includes Tailored Training, on-site, and custom courses. If vouchers are redeemed for custom/negotiated services, the original voucher purchase price will be used to determine the voucher redemption quantity.

Open Enrollment Training Services and Standard Products

The list price of the item should be divided by the dollar value of one voucher (A$550). This calculation will indicate the number of vouchers needed to purchase the product or service. If there is a fractional amount remaining, it will be held in the remaining voucher balance for the next purchase.

Services provided under any Training Services programs are subject solely to the General Terms and Conditions of Sale, Publication 6500.

This statement of training support is strictly provided as a reference for Rockwell Automation customers.

Training Voucher Card and Balance

As a participant in this savings program, you receive a Training Voucher Card with your company name, contract number, voucher quantity purchased, and expiration. Use the Voucher Balance Tracking Tool link to verify your remaining vouchers at any time.

Purchase Training Products Using Vouchers

Contact your local authorised Rockwell Automation representative to process orders for training products and services using vouchers. Please note that special rules and/or restrictions may apply to sales promotions, previously discounted items, premium courses, etc.

Existing Voucher Program and Value Accounts

As of October 2008, any vouchers purchased can be redeemed for all Rockwell Automation training products and services. Vouchers and Value Accounts purchased prior to October 2008 will continue under the guidelines of those programs until vouchers or accounts are depleted or expired. All renewals will follow the Training Voucher Account guidelines and terms.
